Chinese New Year

Chinese New Year is a special celebration and takes place on a different date every year. It is a happy celebration and a time of peace. Everyone stops work to celebrate the New Year and the start of spring. Chinese families all get together at this time of the year.

To prepare for the celebrations, people clean their houses and decorate them to clean away bad luck. Decorations are often red. Some people buy new clothes and shoes, to make a new start for the New Year.

New Year's Eve is the most special part of the festival and there is a big dinner for all the family. The dinner is very important and people cook special kinds of food to bring good luck. Adults give children and older family members money to give them luck. The number 'eight' is very lucky for Chinese people because it sounds the same as the Chinese word for 'wealth'. Children often get $8 for New Year's Eve in the USA. After dinner people often play cards or board games. They then stay awake all night and leave all the lights on because they believe this helps their parents to live longer.

In China, the New Year festival lasts for three weeks and there are parades and dances in the streets. Fireworks¹ are also an important part of the celebrations.

To end the Chinese New Year celebrations, there is a lantern festival where everyone brings a lantern². This is a time for singing and dancing to welcome the first full moon of the year. They believe this is lucky and an ideal way to end their celebrations.

¹ Fireworks are objects that contain explosive and are set off to make noise, coloured lights and smoke for entertainment.

² A lantern is a light you can carry.
