We can help the environment by <sup>0</sup> saving/wasting/recycling energy. For example, we can switch computers off when we are away from our desks and we can <sup>1</sup> use/share/drive renewable energy like solar or wind power. It is also a good idea to <sup>2</sup> save/reduce/share cars or <sup>3</sup> recycle/cycle/drive so that there is less traffic on the roads. <sup>4</sup> Recycling/Reusing/Reducing is also important and there are special bins for glass, paper and plastic everywhere. However, there are other problems as well. We should do all we can to <sup>5</sup> use/reduce/help wildlife. It is their world too.

The land in Bangladesh is perfect for growing food and that's one reason the country can feed its huge population. However, the land is flat, and water from the sea and the River Ganges often covers large areas of the country. As a result, people often lose their homes. In 1987–1988, over 4,000 people drowned after heavy rain.

2 _____

Chichester is a small town in the south of England and although it is near the sea, there is no real danger from a rise in sea level. There is one problem, though. Every morning as people go work and every evening as they return home, the roads are full of cars, and journeys which should take a few minutes can take over an hour.

3 _____

Chile is an amazing country, with the driest desert in the world in the north and 7,000-metre-high mountains in the east. Its capital, Santiago, is a huge city which lies in a valley with mountains around it. In the winter the air gets stuck in the valley and, like Los Angeles, the city suffers from very bad smog.

4 _____

Nigeria is one of the biggest countries in Africa. In the south there are rainforests, but in the north it is much drier. In fact, it is now so dry that the land is slowly dying. Every year, the Sahara desert gets bigger and farmers and their animals have to move further south. This means less land to live on and less food for the people.

5 _____

The north-east of India is one of the most overcrowded parts of the country. As the population grows, people have to move further from the cities to find a place to live and to grow food. They cut down forests and destroy the habitat of the animals that live there. Some, like the tiger, are protected. Others are not so lucky.

6 _____

The Pacific is the biggest ocean in the world. However, a huge area of the ocean suffers from a terrible problem. It is full of plastic and other waste. This waste floats just under the surface, like a huge island. It pollutes the water and forces the fish and other wildlife to move to other parts of the ocean.
